IEC 61400-25 TISSUE process

<http://www.use61400-25.com>

Revision: 23.07.2009

Scope of TISSUE process

- What is a “TISSUE”
 - errors, usually results in modifications
 - ambiguities, usually results in clarifications
 - ideas, usually results in additions
- For errors and ambiguities, solutions need to be found within short term
 - The TISSUE process defines the rules for that
- TISSUES are handled through a database
 - Via the URL link: <http://www.use61400-25.com/default.aspx?id=20>
 - Everybody can enter TISSUES after registration
 - Discussions of TISSUES may partly be visible only for members
 - Solved TISSUES are also published at the USE61400-25 website

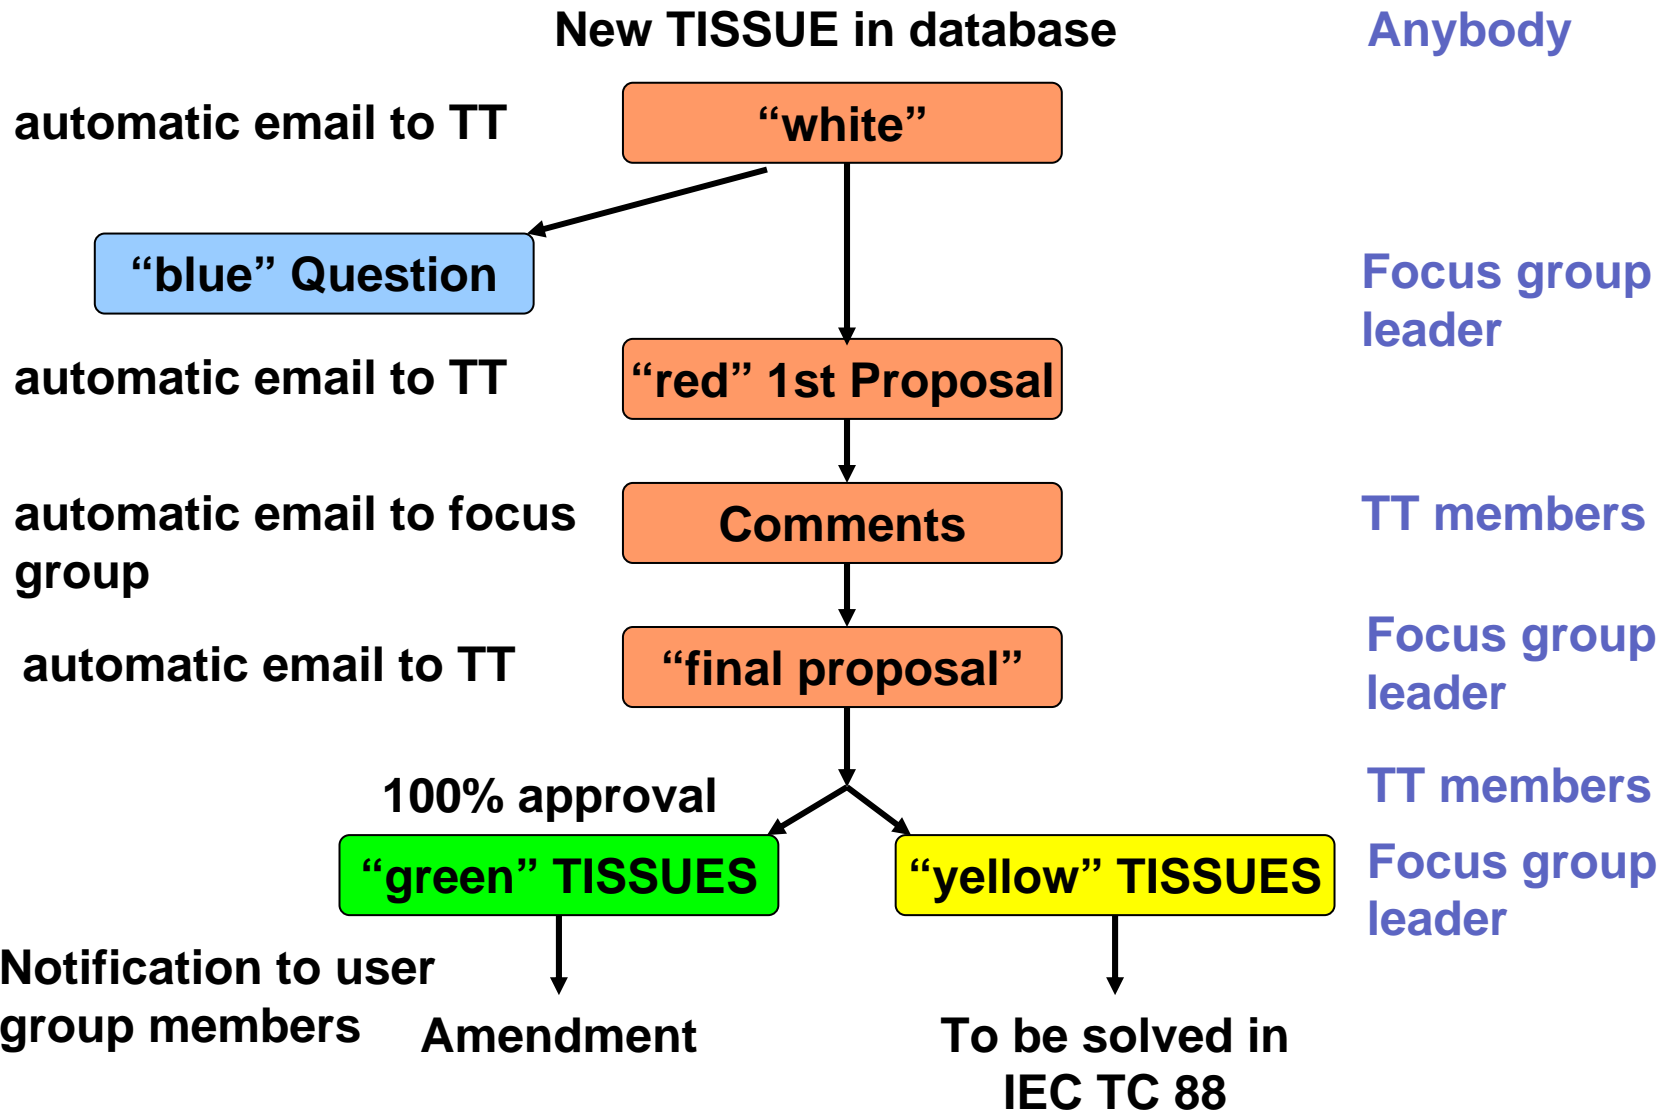

Technical Team – Focus groups

- Focus groups
 - The Technical Team is organized in focus groups dedicated to work on specific topics.
 - Each focus group has a group leader responsible for TISSUES related to a focus group
 - Each focus group leader has a substitute

TISSUES and conformance testing

- TISSUES may impact interoperability
 - A vendor has to supply a list, which TISSUES are implemented.
- TISSUES have an impact on the test plans to be developed by the USE61400-25 users group.
 - A list needs to be generated that refers to a set of TISSUES
 - Based on such a list, test plans may be updated
 - It must be possible, to refer to that list
